Dr. Richardson is hearing more and more in his counseling sessions that there is still great pain from sexual assault and abuse years after the event has taken place. Many individuals have been removed from the presence of the offender. Yet often times no one helped the victim work through the wrong that was done. Sometimes adults don't believe children when it happens or if one is abused as an adult, society sometimes encourages a rushed healing process.

This workshop will discuss signs, effects, predictors and strategies that will help victims overcome the trauma of sexual abuse.

There is no cost to this workshop and seating is limited. Please R.S.V.P. to (810) 394-7815.
